Criminal Conviction

The University has a responsibility to provide a safe educational environment for its students and staff. For this reason all applicants seeking admission to the University's courses are required to declare any relevant criminal convictions that they may have so that appropriate checks can be made.

Relevant criminal convictions are only those convictions for offences against the person, whether of a violent or sexual nature, and convictions for offences involving unlawfully supplying controlled drugs or substances where the conviction concerns commercial drug dealing or trafficking. Convictions that are spent (as defined by the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974) are not considered to be relevant and you should not reveal them (but see the next paragraph below).

If you are applying for courses in teaching, health, social work and courses involving work with children and/or vulnerable adults, you must tell us about any criminal convictions, including spent sentences and cautions (including verbal cautions) and bind-over orders. For these courses, you may need an 'enhanced disclosure document' from the Criminal Records Bureau. You may find the information below useful.
